Don’t let concerns about staff development get in the way of doing business.

Apprenticeships with Interserve Learning & Employment

An Apprenticeship is a job with training for anyone aged 16+, where the apprentice works towards a nationally recognised vocational qualification. The Apprenticeship programme is a government sponsored initiative to ensure the UK’s workforce has the necessary skills for a strong economy.

Through Apprenticeships, Interserve Learning & Employment can boost your business by:

• Helping you to recruit new apprentices
• Providing training and development of your existing workforce

Seven benefits of Apprenticeships

1. Value for money and a positive return on investment
2. Gain the right people with the right skills at the right time
3. The workplace learning model increases staff productivity
4. People feel more valued because you’ve invested in them
5. New qualifications are an incentive to work harder
6. Bright new recruits bring fresh ideas and audience insights
7. Learning leads to innovation and increased competitiveness

Course funding

Apprenticeships can be fully funded, depending upon certain eligibility criteria. Talk to our advisors for further details.

Apprenticeship rate

Employers must pay the minimum apprentice wage, depending on the apprentice’s age and level of learning, but you can always choose to pay more to reflect their real contribution to your business.

Training grants

Grants up to £1500 are available for some employers to assist with taking on a young (16-24) apprentice for the first time. Conditions apply so talk to our experts for further information.

The training gave us more confidence and helped us to focus on what is important in the workplace; how our actions affect those around us and how to give our customers a better shopping experience. I would not hesitate to sign up myself or any team members for Apprenticeships with Interserve Learning & Employment again.
